NOTES AND COMMENT.

Apple Rates from B. C.

Further efforts are being made by officials of the Alberta government to bring about some lowering of rates on apples in bulk shipped from B. C. orchards to the prairies. Recently railway commission gave a decision raising the classification under which bulk apples come in freight tariffs, with the result that it becomes practically impossible profitably to ship bulk apples into prairie points. A. Chard, freight rate supervisor for the Alberta government, is now asking co-operation of various authorities in the prairie provinces and British Columbia in a movement to secure a commodity rate on this product, in order that the prairie may have the opportunity of getting bulk apples at a reasonable cost.

Increase in Big Game

Alberta big game areas are experiencing a considerable increase in big game this season, according to reports coming in from hunting parties. One party of Americans, on a 30-day trip, in the Athabasca area west of Edmonton, reported having seen nearly 700 caribou and over 200 moose, as well as other big game in plenty. In one day's travel they saw 40 moose, 25 caribou, 8 deer and 3 mountain rams. In the Banff area south-west of Jasper National Park, reports come in of large numbers of elk. Hunters report little difficulty in getting adult male elk of ten points or over. Elk have enjoyed protection for 15 years.

Oil Production

Oil production in Alberta for the month of October was 66,841 barrels, made up of 62,581 barrels of naphta from Turner Valley, 1,758 barrels of light crude from the valley, 2,347 barrels of light crude from Red Cowlee field, and 681 barrels of heavy crude from the Wainwright field.

New Test Well

A new deep test oil well is being sunk by the Frontier Developments Ltd., in the Two Hills area, north and east of Vegreville, and 11 miles south of the test made at Duvernay, where an oil bearing foundation was encountered at about 1900 to 1400 feet.

Interesting Farm Facts

According to the census taken last year, there are more than 97,000 out of the 97,400 farms in Alberta which reported having milch cows. More than 72,000 of the farms reported having poultry, and 70,000 farms reported having horses.

This is the season of the year when Junior, although too young to manifest an interest in crop marketing, may be expected to express the desire for a larger apple turnover.

One thing Junior cannot understand is why old rattlesnakes, instead of young ones, should have the rattles.

Winter Sports In Canada Are Attracting Increasing Numbers Of Visitors To Dominion

The invigorating climate of a typical Canadian winter now regarded as an advantage rather than a hardship, owing to the unusual variety of healthful and appealing sports, is attracting increasing numbers of visitors to the Dominion.

Across Canada there are many beautiful and attractive snow-clad mountains, hills and valleys, which offer exceptional opportunities for enjoying a wide variety of outdoor winter sports. The principal activities throughout the country are skiing, snowshoeing, skating, tobogganing, curling, hockey, bob-sledding and but a preference is shown for hockey and curling. In the province of Quebec the major sport events centre in and around Montreal, Quebec City, Murray Bay and the Laurentian mountains. Lovers of winter sports will find vast territories in Ontario which are ideal in location and in scenic beauty. Ottawa, the federal capital, is adjacent to some of the finest skiing country on the continent, while the best of ice-yachting may be enjoyed in Toronto Bay and along the waterfront of Lake Ontario. The Muskoka and Algonquin Park districts, hotels and cabins are open for the accommodation of winter visitors.

Weather Forecaster Dead

Prophecies Of Chicago Man Caused Many Wagers

The familiar phrase "no bets with Barrett" will no longer be heard on the Chicago Board of Trade. The picturesque John F. Barrett is dead.

Barrett, considered the city's most accurate amateur "long-distance" weather forecaster, died recently after a brief illness.

He won numerous bets from his friends on the board of his successful weather forecasting. In 1931, he won $1,250 on his predictions. Barrett said there would be no zero on the thermometer from December 1 to March 21. He was right.

As a matter of fact, he was right so many times that the "smart boys" decided they were licked. There were no more "takers" and the "no bets with Barrett" was frequently aired.

Barrett's weather prophecies were watched closely. It was a frequent occurrence to note in local newspapers what "Barrett, Chicago's unofficial weather-man," predicted.

A recent check-up on his forecasts, that extended over a period of more than 50 years, showed him to be correct 85 per cent of the time.

Although 73, Barrett was one of a small group who had held continuous membership on the Board of Trade for 50 years or longer, having been a member of the exchange April 1, 1881. He was a director of the board 1897-99.

The "weather prophet" was known as a "wise" buyer of cash grain. His skill in foretelling the weather and the size of the future grain crops aided him in business dealings.

While many grain operators looked to Barrett for "tips" on the weather, there were a few who figured his forecasts only lucky. A few bets, however, convinced them otherwise.

Barrett's success was attained by developing a system of observing the course of the wind on Embury week, a period in the Catholic Church Calendar.

British Polar Year Party Tells Of Work Accomplished At Their Bear Lake Station

Interesting Old Records

Wonderful Reference Library

The library of the British House of Commons today is well stocked with history, political biographical and law books.

Many of the books are of historical value, the Aurora Borealis or northern lights.

The British party were interested to see the Canadian Airway Services taking prospecting parties up to the recent finds of pitchblende, gold and silver on the southeast shore of Bear Lake, 200 miles further north than Fort Rae, but the British party gave the novel thrill to the Indians of sending up balloons daily. As it happened that the east an unusually long rainless period in August, the Indians connected it with the occult influence of the balloons, and when a thunderstorm came with a lightning flash to ground near the settlement, nearer than they had ever seen one before, the Indians were convinced in their belief that the strange whites were practitioners of magic.

Looking forward to being frozen in for about nine months, with a vast programme of scientific investigation mapped out for them, the party carried a lot of impedimenta. Their instruments and food equipment for six men was in over 600 cases. They were kindly provided with living quarters by the Hudson's Bay Company and the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, but they had to turn down Indian shacks into laboratories and observatories. One shack had to be made light-proof, heat-insulated and non-magnetic to house the photographic recording magnetic instruments by building a double-chamber with wood-wool in the interspace and then fitted with a double-door and piled up with turf and muskox hide.

Another old log hut was fitted for the manufacture of hydrogen and the filling of balloons. A third had to house the generator and storage battery for the continuous lighting of the photographic recording instruments. Another but became the main meteorological observatory and office.

As early as July the investigators had the pleasure of noticing the aurora and during August there was a display every evening. As all the magnetic records had been put in working order, observations were made from the start and Mr. Slagg writes with evident gratification, "It must be now, if not actually inside, the zone of maximum auroral activity."

Dry Canadian Snow

Snows Of Winter Are Dry, Soft, and Fluffy

Some sections of the world profess to have such a climate that their rains are dry rains, and for the most people a statement of this nature is hard to believe. Canadian snow, however, is a treat to those who are familiar with flakes that fall and immediately turn to a dull grey and sodden mass. In the greater part of the Dominion the snows of winter are dry, soft and fluffy, do not cling to one's garments, and even after a day lay the pleasure in skidding or sliding on Nature's white cushions, a slight shake or brushing removes all trace. So dry is the snow that at times it is impossible to mold the crystals into a snowball.

Bird Sanctuary

Saskatchewan Farmer Has Fine Flock Of Hungarian Partridge

Pillmore, Sask., boasts a "Jack Miner" in the person of John Bull, who is building up a fine bird sanctuary on the farm of his brother, Frank Bull, one mile west of Pillmore.

Last fall a little over a year ago, Mr. Bull began feeding a couple of Hungarian partridge. The couple has now grown to a flock of 22 and this fall 75 more joined the group. A very fine grove of maples and evergreens in the yard, close to the buildings, provides shelter and protection for the birds and in this security and with the kindly care of their guardian the birds are becoming very tame.

It's funny, but a woman who can spot a blonde hair on your coat at ten paces can't see a pair of garage doors at all.

The human brain is truly a marvelous thing. It starts working the moment you wake up and never stops until you get to the office.

dog derbies, all of which may be thoroughly enjoyed, under ideal conditions. With the exception of an occasional day during mid-winter, the temperature is not too cold for participating in outdoor sports.

While motor travel is not general during the winter season, there are many long stretches of highway which are kept conditioned throughout the winter months. The traveler will always find train service a modern and luxurious means of transportation. Hotels in many of the leading summer resort districts remain open the year round, providing good accommodation for those wishing to participate in local winter events.

Each province possesses winter attractions more or less peculiar to its own particular surroundings. Practically all forms of winter sports may be available in the Maritime Provinces.

In Manitoba the Winnipeg bantam also the winter carnival held at The Pas are annual events of international interest. While Banff, situated in the scenic Canadian Rockies in Alberta, is one of the most important centres for winter sports. Record performances in ski-jumping have been witnessed at Revelstoke. The islands and mainland of the southwestern part of British Columbia offer golf, tennis and other summer sports, for the winter visitor.

Information concerning winter sports in Canada may be obtained from the National Development Bureau, Department of the Interior at Ottawa. Those who desire such information should state, if possible, the particular district or districts in which they are interested, in order that the most complete data may be supplied.

Craze Of Earlier Day

Netting Was Amusing Pastime and Shuttle Was Expensive

This being a knitting era as far as necessities and luxuries are concerned, it reminds one of an earlier day when the craze was netting. The shuttle, or netting-needle, was very expensive in the 18th century, and the pastime an amusing one. Women used this dainty tool in making a kind of narrow lace known as netting. Today we would call it footling.

This gave fashionable women an excellent opportunity to display dandy and bejeweled hands. Enamelled netting needles cost as much as $40 in some cases. The Marquise de Pompadour had a pair that cost $27.60, and the Comtesse de Provence gave Mme. de Beaumont a gold netting-needle decorated with six miniature paintings worth a fabulous sum. The estate of the Duke of Lorraine was noted to contain, on his death, in 1781, seventeen netting-needles, amber, rock-crystal, gold, mother-of-pearl, agate, petrified wood—all set in gold.

Apples Or Oranges

Apples are a luxury when it comes to marketing them, and though the Canadian yield this year was good there is a falling off in the export demand of nearly 560,000 boxes as compared with 1931. We can indulge in a baked apple for breakfast instead of a foreign-grown orange, and be the better for it.

A farmer handed over three cows to his tailor to settle an old debt. Paying in kind?

The Safe Driver

Never Assumes the Other Fellow Will Do the Proper Thing

When two careless automobile drivers come into close proximity there is a place for every man, but not every man is in his place. And the man who is out of his place in the world is out of place in the world. If a man would prove his right to be in the world, he must show that he is in his place as well as in the world.

And the man who is out of his place in the world is out of place in the world. If a man would prove his right to be in the world, he must show that he is in his place as well as in the world.

SKIMMING THE BLADE OF THE REAPER

This spectacular picture, made during the 150-mile race for the championship of the United States at Oakland, California, shows an accident at the instant it happened. The car, driven by Leo Spangier (nearest the camera), is shown as it skidded another entry, as he was making a turn. Spangier's car hurtled completely over, but the occupants escaped with comparatively minor injuries.

British-U. S. War Debts.

At the time this article is written, President Hoover and President Roosevelt are in conference giving consideration to applications made by the British, French, and other Governments which are indebted to the United States for loans made by the latter during the war, for an extension of the one-year moratorium covering repayments granted last year, and generally for a revision of the terms of settlement of such debts.

Inasmuch as these enormous international war debts are admittedly one cause of the existing financial and economic depression affecting all nations, whether they are directly concerned as debtors or creditors or not, it is well that the general position in regard to these debts should be understood in its broad outlines.

The war debts of the nations of Europe to the United States total approximately $27,143,339,000, of which amount Great Britain owes $11,103,980,000, and has paid $2,200,000,000; France owes $6,847,074,000 and has paid $4,848,075,891; Italy owes $2,407,677,000 and has paid $757,584,422, with the smaller nations owing varying amounts. Repayment of these huge amounts were to have been in a period of approximately 60 years.

On the other hand, Germany was obligated to pay these allied European nations the sum of $20,377,000,000 during a like period of time. In other words, as Germany paid her debts to the Allies, they in turn could pay the United States. But Germany cannot pay; the United States has refused to take that fact. So the United States has refused to take that fact. So the United States has refused to take that fact. So the United States has refused to take that fact.

The Allies carried on the war against Germany for three years before the United States entered the conflict. Some of them had completely exhausted their credit in those three years and would have collapsed, the result of which might easily have been a German victory. Great Britain came to their rescue. But while Great Britain could have continued to finance all her own stupendous war expenditures, she could not do so and at the same time finance the war of the United States. She had to turn to the United States and, in turn, financed these other allied countries. They cannot repay Great Britain, nevertheless Great Britain is obligated to repay the United States, and as the above figures indicate, has been doing so. As a result Great Britain was driven to the limit of her credit, and now, because of failure of Germany to pay her, or pay other "reparations" which are so heavily indebted to Great Britain, it is no longer possible for Britain to continue paying out to the United States when others are not, because they cannot pay her.

Furthermore, in the huge borrowings by Britain and other countries from the United States, the latter country did not actually lend them gold. What the United States Government did was to advance them credit, which was to be used to buy food supplies, munitions, raw materials and manufactures of all kinds in the United States. In other words, the money was practically all spent in the United States in enormously high war prices for farm products, in war-time wages to workers, in war-time profits to manufacturers and people generally. The people of the United States prospered while Europe was impoverished.

With the ending of the war, and the necessity of paying off these huge credits the United States Government demanded payment in gold. The United States, we repeat, did not lend gold but sold supplies of all kinds on credit, then they refused to take supplies back in repayment but demanded gold in order to prevent repayment. They raised their tariff to prohibitive heights and shut out foreign goods. In so doing they killed off the export trade of the debtor nations, thus making it still harder, in fact impossible, for them to pay.

Great Britain has never defaulted in payment of its obligations to any one at any time. Repudiation of obligations has never been contemplated by Great Britain, although it has been the victim of such practices by other countries, including the United States. The United States, Britain has no desire to default now, and years ago offered to write off the debts owing to her if her own debts, created by borrowings to assist these other nations, were similarly written off. The world's financial and economic troubles today are not due to Great Britain, but to her advice and example being followed after 1918 there would be no trouble.

If the United States still remains adamant, if it refuses to cancel or very substantially reduce the enormous credits which that Government, and continues to insist on payment in gold, in our humble opinion, the stand to be taken by the British Government should be this: Payment in gold being impossible, and in view of the fact that the debt was created through the supply of goods produced and marketed in the United States, that the employment and wealth in the United States, Great Britain should now offer to repay the United States by exactly the same method, that is, by supplying the United States with goods produced or manufactured in Great Britain, or through services, such as shipping which Britain can supply, thus providing employment for Britain's unemployed, and producing wealth for Britain's over-taxed people and institutions.

Until the United States is prepared to accept such British credits in exchange for the credits advanced to Britain, that is, to accept British goods and services in payment for the United States goods and services supplied, Great Britain, while not repudiating anything, would refrain from making any further payments in gold, and let the United States wait for any further settlement until that country is prepared to accept the same terms from Britain that, in the hour of the world's extremity, the United States offered to Britain. Could anything be fairer?

Canada At Geneva Conference

Delegates Gave Full Support To Every Constructive Proposal

Canada gave whole-hearted support to any and every constructive proposal for the limitation and reduction of armaments which was laid before the Geneva disarmament conference. Sir George Grey, who headed the Canadian delegation, informed the House of Commons, Sir George Grey, who headed the Canadian delegation, informed the House of Commons, Sir George Grey, who headed the Canadian delegation, informed the House of Commons.

The work of the first session cannot be considered an unqualified success, and yet it is not fair to say that nothing was accomplished. Sir George informed the Prime Minister. The ordinary course of disarmament, he said, were complicated further by several special events which added to the difficulties of the delegates in reaching agreement. The situation in the Far East, and the exigencies of politics in certain European countries, were factors. "As a result not as much was accomplished as was hoped for," Sir George wrote.

Sir George was accompanied to the conference by Hon. Maurice Dupé, solicitor-general, and Miss Winifred Kydd, president of the National Council of Women. To both of his colleagues he paid tribute on the floor of the House. "There were only two ladies who were able to refuse to be dismissed from the conference," he wrote the Prime Minister, "and we are proud of the fact that one of them was a Canadian."

Subjects of great importance will be considered at the next session of the conference, Sir George informed the Prime Minister in his letter. "There is reason to believe that if the views of Germany and France can be reconciled, decisions far-reaching in importance may be taken at the forthcoming conference," Sir George wrote.

The port of Churchill is today accurately publicized in the United States, New York and eastern Canada. It is a great natural port, and agricultural export of the Winnipeg Free Press, said in an address before the Winnipeg real estate board and the On-To-The-Bay Association. Miss Hind urged her audience to trade to induce western boats of trade to make a strong delegation to meet the first boats coming in next season and make a real occasion of it. She also urged preparation and distribution in Britain and eastern Canada of statements as to the advantages of the bay route, avoiding any exaggeration.

"Every effort should be made," she said, "to induce western merchants to order goods brought in by that route. All ships coming in next season should have some inward cargo." "Churchill is a great natural port," the Hudson Strait is feasible and can easily be made more so and for a longer season, but the work must be done from the west; the east will hinder, not help."

Thinks Canadian Fox Ranch Will Disappear

For Imports Predicts Its Merging

Complete disappearance of the fox ranch in Canada is predicted by Leon Chapin, managing director of Les Moutons Inc., a company which exports, for importers, Mr. Chapin feels that fox farming will become merged with general farming, as there is no sufficient demand for the fur while for a man to devote his whole time to it, while it fits in admirably with mixed farming.

Chapin was in Montreal en route to Prince Edward Island to make a survey of the fox ranching industry there. No competition exists between Russia and Canada, he said, as the furs produced by the two countries are of different types. Canada produces the best quality of fur, that variety, while Russia produces white fox and astrakhan.

All Canadian fur, except the small quantity which is in domestic use, is purchased by Parisian interests, Mr. Chapin said. Even Americans are buying Canadian furs in Paris because his firm had sold more furs in August and September of this year than ever before in its 40 years of existence.

Whistling Pigeons

Mirds Used By Ontario Provincial Air Force To Carry Messages

Travelers in the north woods of Ontario next summer may be astonished when they hear and see what they may take to be a new species of bird, and into their hands may pop visions of whistling swans and wild pigeons. They may see the birds, real pigeons, and hear the whistle, but the two are separate entities, joined it is said but only for a space and then to carry out an idea.

Next spring, after a period of training, teams of homing pigeons will be transported to various fire patrol points where communication by wireless is now difficult or impossible. Reports of fires, forced landings and important messages may be relayed by the use of these birds to the base camps of the Provincial Air Force. The whistle! ## Boost Woolen Trade

Believes New Trade Agreement With Britain Will Be Beneficial

Both Canadian and British woolen manufacturers should enjoy greater business in the Canadian market, in the long run, as a result of the change in the textile tariffs affected by agreements at the Imperial Conference, declared H. Barrett, of Toronto, in his presidential address to the annual meeting of the Canadian Woolen and Knit Goods Manufacturers Association.

Addressing the members who had gathered from all parts of Canada, Mr. Barrett devoted the greater portion of his address to the Imperial Conference and its effects on the woolen industry.

"The improvement of Great Britain's position in the Canadian market," he said, "will be partly at the expense of employment in the Canadian mills and partly at the expense of mills in non-empire countries. But as the preference on our primary products became effective the market in Canada for wool products should increase so that the total effect should be to increase business done in Canada by both Canadian and British mills."

CHAPTER 11.

A No. 100000

At Fort Endurance, in his big tent-cabin overlooking the rest of the post, Alan Baker was changing uniform and making himself regimental again, after a four-day period to a camp of drunken Haves.

Just turned thirty, tall and lanky and powerful of body, Baker had shaken off the last vestige of an unhappy boyhood and his three harrowing years across. He was in the prime of virile and hardened manhood. Coming here to Endurance as a corporal seven years ago, with Jimmy Montgomery and Curt Spaulding as his constable, he had speedily showed his worth as a "northern man" and a detachment leader able to cope with frontier problems. To him it was like coming into his own. In his boyhood he had dreamed of hunting big game; and here, at this post, beneath the Arctic circle, these day-dreams had been realized, though in a strange way. For here he had hunted the biggest of big game—the human game that had intelligence to match against him; that carried a rifle in its hands, and wore a belt-gun, and must be captured alive, at risk of his own life.

During the years that he had been officer commanding here, he had built up an enviable reputation. With a gradually increasing pack of northern men he had successfully brought his big territory through Indian troubles and epidemics, and had smashed those lawless elements that came in with the oil-prospecting rushes farther south.

With a record like that and with Superintendent Williamson as his friend, Alan had expected to get his commission laid full when the post was raised to an inspectorate. No one in all the Three Rivers country doubted that Baker would be the chosen man. To them, to Alan, the bow came unexpectedly. A political appointee named Haskell, a newcomer to the Force, a worse than raw newcomer to the North, got the inspectorship and command of this coveted detachment.

In these last months, Alan had been very thoughtful about his future. Here, at thirty, he found himself in a blind alley, a non-com on meager pay with no hope of promotion. He had turned down the opportunity of going into a big mining company that was promising to be placed through Athabasca country. He had refused half a dozen offers that held prospect of advancement and fine money. And then the Force that he had given such loyalty to had betrayed him. Worst of all, most stinging of all, he was forced to manage this territory still, straightening out the mistakes and enduring the arrogance of the man who had got the place he himself had earned. As he brushed his sandy hair and dressed quickly, Alan's glance strayed down the slope to Mrs. Drummond's flower garden. Elizabeth Spaulding, his fiancée, the sister of his dead partner, was there.

And Inspector Haskell went there with her. . . . that blue and gold of his uniform, through the shibboleys. . . . Alan wondered how many hours Haskell had spent with Elizabeth in these last four days.

Commanding all the other buildings at Fort Endurance, Alan's cabin, which he and Curt Spaulding had built for themselves one summer, was light and airy, homelike with fireplace, bookshelves, radio, flower pots on the ledge, and comfortable with good furniture which Jimmy Montgomery had turned over to him when Jimmy's young wife died. But in spite of its comforts after barracks life, the cabin was lonely to Alan. Eighteen months rolling by had not made him get a dead partner. Every log and every nail in the building held some memory of Curt Spaulding; and Curt's picture, his chevrons, his empty gun, were poignant reminders of that fatal patrol a year ago last January. . . .

When he finished dressing, Alan stopped over a desk, a sort of library and study—a tiny niche for a man so tall and lanky. Above the work table hung a shelf of dog-eared books and three pictures framed in carved walrus ivory. One was of Elizabeth Spaulding taken two years ago when she came down north to visit the country to live with Curt, her brother. Another was of Jimmy Montgomery in jaunty "walking-out" uniform, taken before Jimmy got his raw deal from headquarters and bought out of the Mounted.

The third was of Curt Spaulding. And that picture, flanked with the chevrons and the belt-gun, hung more prominently than even the other two, as though, with that face always in front of him, Alan felt less lonely for his dead partner and could imagine Curt here in this cabin still.

most, with whom she was living, did not like her. To have a girl so dependent upon him, not only for friendship but for maintenance itself, aroused a very tender and protective attitude in Alan.

But at times, deep in his heart, he was troubled about his engagement to Elizabeth. . . . At times the fear rose in him that the marriage was wrong to be a terrible mistake. Something lacked in their betrothal; they weren't the deep and intimate friends they should be.

It shocked him to realize he was going into marriage with a girl knowing he did not love her wholeheartedly. In brooding hours, when he thought of another girl in his life, of Joyce MacMillan and his comradely intimacy with her, the old longing for that deeper and richer relation surged through him. He grew bitter at the secret powerful circumstances which had separated him from Joyce; which he kept locked within himself, telling no one, neither Joyce nor Elizabeth.

Father Claverly, alone, of all the people at Endurance, knew that there was something back of that engagement which Alan had kept to himself—some hidden reason, some unalterable fact, that would explain it. At first he had thought that the profound shock of a partner's death had caused Alan to turn to Elizabeth; but with the passing months he became convinced the reason was not that. It was something deeper and more lasting.

With infinite sorrow Father Claverly had seen Alan's fine comradeship with Joyce break up and had watched the engagement about it. He saw that Elizabeth was a wise, cool-headed girl, very clever at managing relationships for her own ends in the good precept's opinion the marriage of the cool-headed, calculating girl to a man so sincere and warm-hearted, would be a sorry, sorry case.

When Elizabeth came in the door, she merely nodded to Alan's warm greeting. In her precise tones she said: "I want to talk to you, Alan, about something very important to us both. Unless you're too busy. . . ."

Her rebuff hurt him. He knew, her lack of any passion, were always bewildering to him.

Waiting, painfully aware he could never answer her, Alan came and glanced out the window at the river and shimmering pine hills. A mile down the broad Mackenzie a canoe, a small patrol craft with outboard motor, came whizzing around a headland.

Alan thought: "That's Bill Hardrock coming. And coming wide open. Something's happened."

Elizabeth saw the craft, too. But she glanced only once at it, entirely uninterested. Police work—patrols, arrests, mail surveys, treaty money—palls to stamped, bickering Indians—all this bored her, now that the novelty of it had worn off.

She loved Alan—with reservations. She admired his natural-born leadership over other men; admired his rugged honesty, especially his loyalty to Haskell's lack of it. In their life together, Alan would always be loyal to her; she could always depend upon him. But she could not tell him what she wanted of life. Much better than he himself did, she realized he had qualities that would take him far in any other profession; a good intellect, ambition, the ability to work hard, and—most valuable of all—a rare capacity for friendship.

All in all, Elizabeth felt that if only he did not choose to bury himself here in this northern backwoods Alan Baker was by far the likeliest man, of the four or five she had known well, to lift her out of genteel poverty to the life she wanted.

The show had started, and Mr. and Mrs. Berry, invited guests of the great actor, were refused admission by the doorman. "But," they protested, "we are the Berrys!"

There's much to learn from laughter But will induce peaceful laughter For mirth is kin to morning And radiant rays alike.

And laughing tips are wisest; They pose no bitter word That love which will abide Long after colder learning.

Canada's Fur Industry

Industry Rapidly Expanding Throughout the Dominion

Despite the fact that the number of fur farms in Canada increased over one thousand to a total of 6,524 for 1930, the total value of investment in land and buildings, $5,538,446, was $5,000 less than the preceding year, and the value of fur-bearing animals at $16,197,747 was $5,000,000 less than the value in the preceding year. The fur industry is rapidly expanding throughout the Dominion and much valuable assistance to it is given through experimental and research work carried on under the direction of the Dominion Department of Agriculture.

Canada's Aspen Poplar

Is One Of Mostly Widely Distributed Trees In Dominion

Aspen poplar is one of the most widely distributed trees in Canada, being found in every province of the Dominion. Its northern limit extends almost to the Arctic coast, at the Mackenzie delta. From the wood of the aspen are made excelsior, boxes and barrels for foodstuffs, and certain types of broodstock. Lumber uses from it is difficult to season and very perishable. In the prairie provinces it is an important source of fuel.

Soviets Will Discharge Workers Who Loaf On The Job

The Soviet government has issued an order discharging all workers who loaf one working day a month from a regular job without valid excuse. In addition, loafers are deprived of food cards and lodgings. Heretofore workers have been allowed three absences monthly before action was taken against them, but the cause of this system has been recently revealed.

See Better Business

United States Advertisers Report Increased Sales

Sales increased approximately 23 per cent in the last three months over the three months immediately preceding, on the basis of reports from more than 50 per cent of the members of the Association of National Advertisers, the annual convention of the association was informed at Atlantic City by Lee H. Bristol, of New York, president of the association.

A large percentage of the increase, he said, was attributable to improved conditions in the trades reporting the rise in their advertising appropriations.

Bristol further revealed that 35 per cent of the concerns represented at the convention have planned to increase their advertising appropriations in 1933, while only 22 per cent have planned to decrease these expenditures.

Grapefruit Was Hardly Eaten Three Thousand Years Ago

Grapefruit which is now such a popular article of diet, was developed by the Chinese some 3,000 years ago. One of the wild citrus trees with which their country abounds, and whose natural fruits are small and hardly edible.

In the eighteenth century it was taken by an Englishman, Captain Shaddock, to the West Indies and grown there with success. Thence it spread to the United States, where fruit-growers have given it much attention and have improved it considerably.

Entering a field hitherto belonging exclusively to women, six Edmonton young men have finished training as manufacturers. And they're deadly serious about it.

Biography Of Louis Riel

Chas. Sauve Brings To Light Some Interesting Facts Concerning Rebel Leader

Louis Riel's grandfather's name was Rielson and Riel himself came from Lunenburg, instead of Quebec, is stated among the interesting records in a biography of "Riel, the Martyr," written by Charles Sauve, who died in Winnipeg recently.

Mr. Sauve was forty years in finishing the book, completing it a few days before his death.

He began to make notes at the time of Riel's death. Sauve was one of those chosen to go west to Regina when Riel was executed, and guard the box-car that brought the casket to Winnipeg during the black days of November, 1885.

Mrs. S. Smith, daughter of Sauve, in telling of the manuscript, said that Riel's body was not in the coffin buried in St. Boniface, but was buried secretly elsewhere.

In the book other famous characters of the west of those days are described, including Jean Baptiste Lagimodiere, who went on snow-shoes from Red River to Montreal.

One of Mr. Sauve's exploits as a young man was to duplicate this feat of his ancestor, walking to Montreal in a back, carrying nothing but his gun. He was gone a year.

Explanations and Comments

Jesus Was No Respector Of Persons. John 4:9-10.—We have in this incident the example of Jesus in dealing with a representative of another race. This was our text for the Fourth Lesson of the First Quarter, and Explanations and Comments there may be recalled.

The menace of interracial friction and antagonism constitutes the supreme concrete challenge to the Christian belief that all men are the children of God.—Basil Matthews.

The Lesson Peter Learned About Other Nations, Acts 10:34-35.—While praying on a house top in Joppa, Peter had a vision of a receptacle resembling a great sheet let down from heaven, and holding in it all manner of four-footed beasts and creeping things and birds, and he was told to kill and eat.

Horrid! at the thought, Peter exclaimed, "Not so, Lord. I have never eaten anything that is common to the unclean." The Levitical law prescribed what was clean and how they should be slaughtered, and what was held to be unclean.

"What God had cleansed, make not thou common," were the words the voice uttered to the astonished Peter. What God had made and given to eat, was now to be called "unclean," but with his lesson in mind Peter before them enter and lodged them overnight. The next day he accompanied them on their return to Cornelius. He took the precaution to take with him six brethren as witnesses, for he felt that he was doing a venturesome thing. Cornelius told Peter of the vision he had had, in which he was directed to send for the latter of the men and his friends and kinsmen.

Christmas Seal Campaign

Nineteenth Sanatorium in Manitoba

Has Spent Week

The Christmas seals—what have they to say for themselves? What do they do to help in these bad days? They pay for the seal work of the Travelling Tuberculosis Clinics. These clinics scout through Manitoba for hidden tuberculosis and help to clear it up. Already in 1932, 48,000 have been held—more than twice as many as last year, 16 places visited for the first time, and 4,640 examined, fifty per cent increase over 1931.

These travelling clinics go into all parts of the province, into poor communities, and poor, and very poor. They follow their clinics, examine those who have been in contact with open tuberculosis, or are suspected, and keep examining them.

No charge is made for any such examination. There is now a van to carry all equipment and staff, and a portable generator, so that a current for X-ray films can be provided anywhere.

More than fifteen thousand examinations have been made by these Manitoba Travelling Clinics since they began, supported by seal sales. Besides known tuberculosis people who have been seen, the new discoveries of tuberculosis totalled more than 2000 in 1932, and altogether, more than one thousand.

When you bought seals last year this was the big work you helped with. When you buy NOW you help to do even more in 1933.

Should you buy seals? This year many should not or cannot. Do not be pressed to buy unless you should. We would like to think that none had bought who should not. It is quite easy to return the seals to the sanatorium at Ninette, Manitoba. If you have bought in other years and cannot this year please take a few seals without cost before returning.

But do your bit by buying if you can and what you can. The worse the year the more the need.

Different Dog Taxes

In England they pay 7s. 6d. for a license for any sort of dog, but in Germany dogs are taxed according to their weight. A dachshund costs $2 a year. In France dogs are taxed according to their value. You can keep a mongrel for as little as a shilling, but a thoroughbred may cost thirty shillings.

Found Near Surface In Channel Off Vancouver Coast

Lady Luck has been standing on the bridge of every steamer that has navigated Rellies Cove, Clayoquot Sound, West Coast of Vancouver Island, because in the dead centre of the channel there is a pinnacle of rock that had less than fifteen feet of water over it at low water.

This pinnacle was located by the Dominion hydrographic steamer "Lillooet" in the course of her charting work and a lot of mariners are shaking hands with themselves at getting over that dangerous spot without trouble.

How ships missed piling up on this rock is explained by the hydrographers who noted that the water in the neighborhood at low water. "Just a matter of luck," said one of the hydrographers.

PROPOSAL FOR WORLD WHEAT POOL ADVANCED

Calgary, Alberta.—Virtual establishment of a world wheat pool by the four leading wheat exporting countries, was agreed before the Alberta wheat pool annual meeting here by C. W. Peterson, publisher of the Farmer and Rancher and leading farm expert of western Canada.

Mr. Peterson's address was given at request of delegates during discussion of general wheat production and exporting problems.

Mr. Peterson's proposals, mentioning specifically the wheat exporting countries of Canada, United States, Australia and Argentina, briefly were:

1. To organize the four chief wheat exporting countries into a pool to control, within each country, the domestic and export sale of wheat and flour.
2. To induce importing countries to agree to a fixed minimum price of a specified grade of wheat at Liverpool.
3. By creating a state monopoly of the wheat and flour business, or by any other feasible method, to facilitate the proper enforcement of such a price within all countries.

Elaborating his proposals after addressing the closed session of pool delegates, Mr. Peterson reviewed history of agriculture for the past 300 years, leading up to present world conditions. He pointed out the licensing of farmers in Canada, United States, Australia and Argentina to guarantee against over-production with a form of international control.

"Thinking people," he said, "can easily comprehend the sequence of events leading up to present conditions." The first step, he said, was universal agricultural over-explanation arising from inflated war prices. The second was culmination in unprecedented agrarian planting intensification, bringing the temporary subjugation of farmers in all exporting and most importing countries to a slump standard of living. The finale was present chaos.

Mr. Peterson's plan called for establishment of a "joint international wheat board" which would be responsible for marketing of all the wheat and flour produced in the four countries.

Each of the four countries would, by the joint international body, be allotted an acreage quota annually, based on current world requirements. Normally, he said, this would vary somewhat each year in sympathy with cropvaries, increases in world population and planting intensification in other countries. Special quota allowances might have to be accorded Australia and Canada. In view of their comparative overdeveloped state to provide for new settlement. The proceeds of this arrangement, based on the season's yield in each country, would be accepted for export sale. No more than the quota would be taken.

Many Questions On Beauharnois Project

Matter Is Again On Ottawa House Order Paper

Ottawa, Ont.—The Beauharnois power project again figures in questions placed on the order paper of the House of Commons. E. J. Garand, United Farmer member for Bow River, has a dozen queries on the order paper with a view to obtaining further information in respect to the financing of the undertaking.

Mr. Garand first asks for the tabling of copies of any arrangements which have been entered into by the government in respect to the Beauharnois project. He wishes to know the total amount of money advanced by the government to date in connection with the construction and completion of the enterprise.

"What security has the government been given for the money advanced," he asks.

The member for Bow River asks if the government has obtained any legal opinion regarding the legal right of the Beauharnois Heat and Power Company to transmit electrical energy beyond the limits and boundaries of the province of Quebec.

"Did the minister of finance or the prime minister approve of loans estimated at $6,000,000, made by the Royal Bank of Canada, the Bank of Montreal, and the Canadian Bank of Commerce to this enterprise?" he asks. "Are such loans permissible under the Canadian Bank Act?"

For Better Understanding

Makes Plea For Closer Union Between Britain and U.S.

London, Eng.—Speaking at a Pilgrimage Society luncheon in honor of Robert Frazier, the new United States consul-general, Lord Hallahan, Secretary for War, made a plea for closer understanding between Great Britain and the United States for the economic salvation of the world.

"Never has there been a time when it was more important that our two peoples should understand one another," he said. "We stood together in the world from economic disaster. I believe that today we, the two great creditor nations of the world, must stand together to protect the world from economic disaster. I believe that the hope of civilization lies in fuller understanding between Great Britain and the United States."

Attack Duff Report

Labor Makes Attack On Its Recommendations

Ottawa, Ont.—Thousands of railwaymen in western Canada will be thrown into the ranks of the unemployed if the Duff Commission's report is adopted, the House of Commons was told when Labor made its initial attack on its recommendations. Humphrey Mitchell, Labor, Hamilton East, estimated 20,000 railwaymen would lose jobs. Hon. Peter Hemen, who returned to overalls and a locomotive cab when he left the portfolio of Labor in the King cabinet, placed the number at "many thousands and thousands."

Branch railway lines would be scrapped, noted the former minister. Services would be dropped and curtailed. The Canadian National and Canadian Pacific Railways would be drawn into closer co-operation. Competition would disappear.

Alberta Deficit

Decreased Revenue Shown In Provincial Treasurer's Report

Edmonton, Alberta.—Deficit of $5,153,000 in Alberta provincial finances for the fiscal year ended March 31, 1932, is shown in public accounts released by Hon. R. O. Reid, provincial treasurer. This compares with a deficit of $2,306,581 for the previous fiscal year, 1930-31.

Revenue for the year which was estimated at $18,441,457 actually yielded $18,492,430, a shrinkage of nearly five millions, expenditures were estimated at $18,829,798, but were cut to $18,945,483.

Sees Better Times

Toronto, Ont.—President Frank A. Rolph told the annual meeting of the shareholders of the Imperial Bank of Canada here today there is a greater feeling of optimism throughout the country than there has been for two years, that opportunities are offered for developing business due to the imperial economic conference, and that further stabilization may be expected from the coming world economic conference.

Oil From Oklahoma

Trainload Of Crude Oil Leaves Senate's For Regina

Seminole, Okla.—A trainload of 40 cars of crude oil will leave here for the Imperial Oil Company, Regina, Sask.

The train will provide 120 working days for railway employees in Canada, and the United States. The railroad men call it the "King George Special." It is the first trainload of Seminole crude oil to be shipped to Canada in three months. There used to be three a week.

MORE DIVERSITY OF PRODUCTION ON THE FARM

Toronto, Ont.—Radical changes are required in western Canadian agricultural practices before the prairie provinces' economic picture is again bright, in the opinion of a prominent Toronto banking official quoted by the "Mail and Empire."

Just returned from a month's intimate study of conditions and prospects in the west, the banker advocated turning the bulk of Manitoba's wheat lands into grass for cattle. That, he suggested, would permit the hatched areas suitable for wheat alone to retain this as a major crop without congesting the market.

Alberta, he stated, already was well on the way toward a more balanced production. However, greater interprovincial co-operation was required before the problem finally could be solved.

There must, in the banker's opinion, be drastic curtailment of wheat acreage in western Canada, and he suggested the best method of attaining it would be through interprovincial co-operative measures tending toward a padded and co-ordinated diversity of production, allocating each area the new crops and types of livestock it was best fitted to produce.

Western Canada could not get along with general control throughout all its sections so long as wheat prices at Port William were less than 55 cents a bushel. Readjustments already made had placed the average farmer in the position of being as well off with wheat at 60 to 65 cents as he was three years ago when it was selling at $2.

Some communities and individuals had so organized their production they were doing well with 50-cent wheat, the banker stated. Others in such areas as southeastern Saskatchewan had not yet exhausted their cash surpluses from former years. Thus, there was by no means a uniform condition throughout the west. Bright spots were sufficient in number and variety to mitigate the gloom cast by others.

ITALY PASSES TENTH MILESTONE UNDER FASCISM

EXCEPT ON ROAD TO ROME

Since that October day, ten years ago, when the black-shirted legion, led by an almost unknown agitator, Benito Mussolini, marched into the Eternal City and started work on its conversion to greatness, many changes have taken place in the land of the Caesars and Popes. The most remarkable of these changes, to the look-oner, has been the climb to power of Mussolini. His word is law in every corner of the country. He is hated by many, feared by many, adored by many—but obeyed by all. Fascists claim that if Duce had built up the economic state of Italy to a position it has not enjoyed for decades.

New Bacon Policy Will Benefit Canada

British Markets More Open Than Ever For Product

Toronto, Ont.—"Canada will benefit automatically in the new policy by reason of the 280,000,000 pounds of bacon per year," declared J. R. McLean, of Canada Packers, Limited, in commenting on Great Britain's policy with regard to bacon restrictions which are now in effect.

"Her market will now be more open than ever to receive this Canadian bacon, which will take care of about 50,000 hogs a week," he said. Great Britain has started cutting down on her imports of bacon from foreign sources. As a result, it is essentially a preliminary to building up her production."

May Demand Provincial Election In Ontario

Progressive Leader Will Introduce Amendment When House Opens

Toronto, Ont.—A demand for a provincial election next summer will be made immediately after the opening of the Ontario legislature in February by H. C. Nixon, Progressive Leader, who was in Toronto.

He declared he would introduce an amendment to the moving and seconding of the adoption of the Speech from the Throne during the business of the House be concluded with reasonable speed and an election called for June next.

Relief On Mortgage Payments Is Sought

One Per Cent Interest Cut Asked By Prairie Provinces

Ottawa, Ont.—Efforts to free prairie farmers for one year from mortgage interest and to persuade mortgage companies to reduce interest rates by one per cent, were put forward last week by western provincial treasurers in an interview with officials of the government.

The interview, it is understood, took place at Toronto, and the reply given the treasurers is not known here. It is understood, however, that the companies pointed out that few if any foreclosures are being sought for arrears of interest, and that the companies are dealing generously with farmer debtors on the prairies.

New Stamp Issue

Bears Profile Of King Engraved In Medallion Style

Ottawa, Ont.—A new stamp issue, in denominations of one, two, three, four and eight cents was placed on sale by the post office department on December 1.

The new issue bears the profile of the King, engraved in medallion style, and is similar in design to the 3-cent stamp issued to commemorate the Imperial Economic Conference. The same time a new 13-cent stamp will be issued replacing the current 12-cent stamp that bears the view of the Quebec capital. The design of the new stamp will be about 50,000 hogs a week," he said. That, he suggested, would permit the hatched areas suitable for wheat alone to retain this as a major crop without congesting the market.

No Jobless In Jerusalem

Not One Man Unemployed Statement Of Jewish Leaders

New York.—Three Jewish leaders from Palestine, arrived on the "Berenagar" on their way to a convention of the American Mitschaki organization in Buffalo, boasted that they city is the one place in the world that has not one unemployed man.

It was the longest, narrow-casting experiment on record, during a part of the experiment John William Taylor, who developed the method of transmitting sound over light waves, was interviewed by Heywood Bros. newspaper columnist, who was at Schenectady, while Taylor was at Lake Desolation.

U. S. IS AGAINST MOVE FOR DEBT CANCELLATION

Washington.—Climaxing a rapidly moving picture of war debt discussion, President Hoover's views were launched—with the knowledge of President-elect Franklin D. Roosevelt—a request that foreign debtors meet the $15,000,000,000 in payments on their war debts to the United States.

Simultaneously and in the face of congressional opposition, he proposed the creation of an agency to review international financial policies in connection with world economic and disarmament problems.

In view of determined objections made on Capitol Hill, especially by Democratic powers in the House, there seems little chance for such a United States commission.

Only a few minutes before Mr. Roosevelt left Washington and shortly after an extraordinary convocation of congressional leaders at the White House, Mr. Hoover issued a lengthy formal statement declaring flatly against debt cancellation but suggesting other forms of tangible compensation than cash."

Immediately there followed a chorus of mixed appreciation and opposition. One senator and representative after another declared against a commission to review the debts. The same men, however, expressed approval of Mr. Hoover's stand against further moratorium or cancellation.

Some congressional leaders, President Hoover at the White House conference that he already had power to negotiate or set up a commission such as he proposed to negotiate with Great Britain, France and other European powers. The same view was echoed later by other prominent members of congress who did not attend the meeting, but in administration quarters it was held the executive had no such power.

Spoke John Vance Garner, the vice-president-elect, who led the Democratic contingent into the cabinet room conference at the White House, later into party with Mr. Roosevelt, reiterated in public a belief expressed by several at both meetings.

"Let them default," he exclaimed in answer to questions. "Who said they would default? They won't."

MASS KILLING OF CHINESE BY JAP SOLDIERS

Shanghai, China.—A Chinese foreign office communication published here charged that 2,700 Chinese peasants were massacred recently in northern Manchuria by Japanese soldiers.

The mass killing was done by machine guns, the communication said.

Inhabitants of the villages of Ping-Ting-Sing, who were put forward last week by western provincial treasurers in an interview with officials of the government.

The interview, it is understood, took place at Toronto, and the reply given the treasurers is not known here. It is understood, however, that the companies pointed out that few if any foreclosures are being sought for arrears of interest, and that the companies are dealing generously with farmer debtors on the prairies.

According to the Chinese foreign office, the Japanese promised a reward if the villagers were found to be innocent, and then placed more than 10 machine guns 70 yards from the assembly, ordering all the captives to kneel with their backs to the guns.

Some of the villagers realized the fate in store for them, the communication continued, and committed to ruin, whereupon the machine guns opened fire on the stampeding mass of screaming men, women and children.

"Infants, children and others not killed by bullets were bayoneted," the statement said.

The Japanese, the foreign office declared, piled up the corpses, covered them with oil-soaked fuel and burned them.

Subsequently, according to the communication, the farms of the villagers were allotted to Japanese nationals.

Talked Over Light Beam

Scientist Makes Longest Non-casting Experiment On Record

Schenectady, N.Y.—A group of scientists at Schenectady talked with another group at Lake Desolation, 24 miles away, over a light beam projected across the lower Adirondack mountains.

It was the longest, narrow-casting experiment on record, during a part of the experiment John William Taylor, who developed the method of transmitting sound over light waves, was interviewed by Heywood Bros. newspaper columnist, who was at Schenectady, while Taylor was at Lake Desolation.

A searchlight mounted on a building at the General Electric Company's plant projected its beam upon a small mirror which was part of the receiving apparatus at Lake Desolation.

For National Defence

Conference Of Defence Association Has Been Established

Ottawa, Ont.—Organized for the purpose of creating a new national defence, co-ordinating the activities of the present service associations in matters of common interest and generally promoting the welfare of the defence forces of Canada, the conference of defence associations has just been established. Returning, he started the train and went into the smoker on his round of duty. There he was talking to Frank Sainsbury, a Lethbridge C. P. R. conductor, and Wallace Porter, a trainman, when he expired suddenly. Supr. Buthers, whose private car was attached to the train, was called, the train was taken back to the Calgary depot. Coming west to Medicine Hat in 1899 he became a conductor on the Medicine Hat-Lethbridge-Cranbrook run, and for a number of years resided in Lethbridge. Some 11 years ago he moved to Calgary and became conductor on the night run between that city and Lethbridge, spending three days a week here.

Mr. Hayes was a member of the Masonic Lodge No. 2 at Medicine Hat, and of the Al Azhar Shrine. He was prominent in organizations and associations connected with the railway.

Wearing seven stripes on his conductor's uniform, Mr. Hayes had completed 37 years of service with the C. P. R. Mr. Hayes is survived by his wife, Ollie; two sons, Monty and Norman, all of Calgary. Four brothers predeceased him. A sister, Mrs. Ered Barkswell, New York, also survives. Funeral services were held from the funeral residence of Leyden and Bruce on Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock.
